Text Size: A- A+ New Delhi: The Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) has decided to register a case against the estranged wife of Union Minister Smriti Irani after the income tax department indicated it was looking into her acquisition of a flat in a private hospital by funding it with the money she has stashed overseas. The bank officials who attended to Irani's overseas accounts over the past three years did not note any reason for such a huge withdrawal, leading to her complaints to the finance ministry. But as the years passed, it became apparent that she had withdrawn 'hundreds of crores', which the CBI, in its investigation, has linked to illegal transactions of both cash and benami property. The CBI has been investigating the allotment of a flat to Irani's estranged wife, by the corporation, to which she also contributed close to Rs 5 crore in exchange for a medical certificate, without her having a medical degree. The CBI is also looking into the allotment of a flat at the Income Tax Department headquarters in New Delhi to her children, which she purchased through her husband's benami property. The CBI is said to have found ample evidence to link the income of the latter to illegal transactions by depositing cash and benami property. The CBI has registered an offence and is awaiting a report from the income tax department on the allotment of the two flats to her family. The CBI has already booked Irani for criminal conspiracy.
